Enclosed for your most esteemed.

At a meeting of the Hampstead Committee
on July 22nd, it was proposed by Mrs Herbert -
Smith & seconded by Mr.
Morr, that the following resolution should be sent in to the Central Committee:

over

"That the subject of the food supply of the great Public Schools is one which demands the careful consideration of the central Committee of the P. W. E. U., and that with a view to a thorough ventilation of the questions involved the Central Committee should invite communications from the local centres."

17.2.04 Ex. Cttee letters read for C. H. - who felt that the P.
had been somewhat lost etc. ~~etc.~~ opportunities and,
instead of being a college of parents spreading Educational thought, which had formed the basis of its existence, had become a platform for more or less interesting and diffuse lectures.

It would, she thought, be advantageous if a body of parental members could be found who had studied 'Home Education' or 'Parents and Children' or other books
now in manuscript. This should in any way clash with the existing arrangements of branches.

Unanimous agreement to idea of a reading course.
Mrs. H. H. writes to say her pamphlet "Some Suggestions" had brought forward so many enquiries from schools that she had determined to adapt the scheme originally intended for

He Chairman stated that the applicability of the Ordinance is in order.

Miss Hagan-said they should read the literature of, or illustrating the history period studied; but also / / / / / made of the children did original illustrations, also Geography in connection with the history period studied.

The Chairman- there was a general prejudice against making history the pivot of instruction-until a few years ago neither history nor Geography were taught in Elementary Schools & many people still thought with Herbert Spencer that history & literature were only accessories for leisure hours; the ideal plan was to divide the study hours equally between the scientific & humanistic studies.

Mr Stewart - How could books be obtained?

Miss Hagan-said children in elementary schools pay for their own books at the rate of 10 c a week in the lower grades & 25 c a week in the upper?

The speaker said was $2.00 a year for all books but it might be reduced to 50 c a year for elementary schools.

Mr Hester agreed, but found great difficulty because situation was becoming so costly-the rate-payers would not / / / / / be expected to pay. Some parents would not pay, some would.

Miss Hagan-said the Educational Authorities would supply text-books & copies of all books for the teachers use.

Mr Stewart-said parents could buy in this way but there might be difficulties in collecting the money.

Mr Fuller - there was no difficulty 20 years ago in getting as much as 10 c a copy, and the school board, for weeks, but it would be so many now. If an example were made of even in our school, others would follow. There was a good library in Grange & many children were great readers.

Mr Fuller thought that the Educational Authority already spent much on Education but that the personal possession of a book was educative & that it would be a good thing for the parents to pay at least towards the cost of the books in this way.

Miss Hagan would not parents be willing to pay for the possession of a book when they would not pay for its use?

Mr Stewart - would this affect the Chicago Board?

The Chairman - would the Local Authority take the lead?

Mr Fuller said that the Local Authority would be willing to take the lead in this matter.

The Chairman asked if anyone were willing to undertake the scheme suggested by Mr Stewart, Mr Stewart Mr Stewart agreed to do so. Mr Stewart suggested that talking on these lines would be a pleasure.
